

- CALL FOR PRESENTATIONS -

The Global Tax Deal and the Changing International Tax Order

THE 4TH ANNUAL UCI/A. LAVAR TAX SYMPOSIUM

The Graduate Tax Program at the University of California, Irvine School of Law will host its 4th Annual UCI Law/Lavar Taylor Tax Symposium on March 21, 2022. The theme this year is The Global Tax Deal and the Changing International Tax Order.

The purpose of this full-day symposium is to launch an in-depth discussion on the “global tax deal” adopting the OECD two-pillar framework, signed by 136 countries last October. We are interested in submissions for proposed presentations on the ramifications of the global deal from any point of view, including, but not limited to: economic, political, legal, social, racial, as well as any critical perspective.

This one-day symposium will be attended by tax industry professionals, government officials, and academic researchers. We expect about 200 online attendees this year. Presenters of accepted submissions will be invited to present at the symposium.

We accept submissions from:

- Tax practitioners (in law firms, accounting firms, in-house practices, and tax preparation industry);
- Academic or industry researchers;
- Government officials, tax policymakers, and tax policy advocates;
- Entrepreneurs in fields related to the symposium topic.

Guidelines for submissions:

- Submission topics should be of interest to as many of the groups of potential submitters noted above.
  - Please submit a 300-500 word abstract of the proposed presentation (if a longer version is available you may submit it together with the abstract) to gradtax@law.uci.edu, no later than February 15, 2022. Please include “Tax Symposium Submission” in the subject line. Please be sure to include the names and contact details of the presenter/s.
  - We will make decisions about submissions and notify submitters by March 1, 2022.
