

Wayne State University Law School is pleased to announce that it is seeking candidates for the Alan S. Schenk Chair in Taxation.

JOB DESCRIPTION: The Alan S. Schenk Chair in Taxation was endowed by former students in honor of Professor Alan Schenk, a renowned tax scholar who has taught at the Law School for over 50 years. Candidates with expertise in tax, business planning, and corporate finance are encouraged to apply. This is a full-time, tenured position to start in Fall 2024. The holder of the Chair will be expected to teach courses in the noted specialties at the J.D. and graduate level, to publish in scholarly journals, and to speak at academic conferences and events.

JOB QUALIFICATIONS: Candidates must have a J.D. degree or equivalent, outstanding academic credentials, a demonstrated commitment to teaching and scholarship, and substantial expertise in tax law. They should have a record that qualifies them for an appointment at the level of full professor. They should have the ability to contribute to the professional and intellectual life both of the Law School and of the legal practice community.

ABOUT WAYNE STATE: Wayne State University is a premier, public, urban research university located in the heart of Detroit. The Law School has a rich history of providing access to legal education and training students for the practice of law and the pursuit of social justice.

Wayne State University Law School is an equal opportunity employer and encourages applications from people of color, women, individuals with disabilities, LGBTQ people, and others whose background, experience, and viewpoints would contribute to the diversity of the academic community. The University is committed to providing a diverse and inclusive workplace that supports the academic and professional success of all faculty members.

APPLICATION PROCEDURE: Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, research agenda, and a list of references to Professor Steven Winter, at swinter@wayne.edu. Applicants are also encouraged to submit any other materials they deem relevant to their qualifications for the position.
